THE SIEGE OF LEXINGTON.

We print this morning an interesting and circumstantial narrative of the nine days' siege of Lexington, from the diaryot Liout. McClure of the Irish Brigade. The diary was written at odd moments of respite from duty, and bears the marks of entire truthfulness. It is proper to say that it was not written for publication, and that at the time it was obtained by us Lieut. McClure was still a prisoner at Lexington, refusing to give his parole. The details relate exclusively to the part borne in the defense by the Irish Brigade, except us to the surrender precipitated by Major Beckwith of the Home Guards.

No mention is made of the seizure of the beat by the rebels; nor is the surrender stributed to the exhaustion of the supply of water. The latter circumstance is menitored as a serious hardship, though it appears that there was enough remaining in the camp in the morning of the 20th, the last day of the siege, to serve the men with coffee for breakfast. The immediate of the surrender was, according to Levit. McClure, the action of Major Lieut. McClure and the discussion of the surrender was according to the content of the surrender content in the special that point, and regiments have occupied important points of the anion of Sajor and printing to Louise. The numbers which it is assented have crossed the river at that point amount to 12,000 men and several full betterles. This force, moreover, is raid to be from Washington, and the Chicinstal Esquirer's commercial article of the 3d indicates as much. The refired at Chemistry opposite this place, refused on Monday to receive freight for the East, and without reasons. I have felt-it my duty to tell him what they say, and he throws himself behind the reports of he officers, who are trying to prevariente and shield themselves from neglect of duty; and he still clings to them and refuses to use of the himself. I told him he would not escape responsibility in that way, and he would very soon find an army of rebels 10,000 strong on his hands in North Missouri, threatening 8t. Louis, and occupying the forces he desired to use against McCulloch and Pillow. He take of the rigor he is going to use, but I can see none of it, and I fear it will turn out to be some rash and inconsiderate move, adopted in heats to make head against a formidable force, which could not have accumulated except through gross and inexcusable negligence. From Rolls.

Rolls, Mo., Oct. 4.—Thirty-five of our wounded men arrived here from Springuisid yesterday. Three ambulances left this morning and others will start to-morrow for that place, to bring away more of the wounded, about 100 of whom remain there.

Lotters received here from the southwest asy that many of the most prominent citizens of that region are moving their families and effects to the South.

Capt. Aus G. Smith, at the head of some 1,000 Union men, is punishing accessionists in Barry and Stone counties.

Mrs. John S. Phelps, who was so active in her attentions to our wounded soldiers after the heattle of Springfield, is very ill of typhold fave.

Lobe Collect. State Sanator from Lawrence. Dankerown, Oct. 4.— A gentleman arrived here reports that firing was heard at noon, yesterday, in the direction of Edwards' Ferry. Rumors are current that Gen, Stone will shortly lead our advance across the Potomac. His force has been strengthened largely of late. His force has been acceptable at several late.

The Potomac is now passable at several fords between Great Falls and Point of Rocks. The enemy are known to have largely augmented their force in the vicinity of Loesburg. Military authorities think this is only a feint, and that at the first demonstration by as, they will fall back to Manassas. No apprehension is felt of a attempt to cross the Potomac by them, or to make an attack on us.

place was invested by Gen. Price on the 19th, and the skirmishing of pickets began then. We, therefore, take up Lieut. McChurc's narrative on that day:

FIRST DAY.

SEPT. 12-6 O'CLOUK A. M.

Great excitement all night, rumors constantly coming in sand going out, hark, now the ball is opening! Company K. Capt. Quirk, went out about 4 a, M., and now we hear their cheers and rally cries; also the discharge of their guns. The shots are becoming moreffrequent; there goes a discharge of at least fifty guns, and still another. I think that they will check the advance guard of the rebels. We are auxions to meet them, abthough they have five men to our oue—most fearful odds. Our entreachments are only begun. If we could have one day more we could complete the work.

The firing has ceased; our picket has returned and reports that they use the rebuild picket, but it did not stand thair fire, but fied into the cornfield. We killed 26 and brought in two prisoners. Two companies have now gone out. Co. D is piaced as guard to the post. Three other companies are in the ditch, working with all their energy.

FOR O'LLOCK F. M.

Here come the scouts with the report that

The rebels have not yet appeared this morning, although we have orders to remain on our poets round the embankments. I have been an all night. Our menhworked on the dyke until two this morning, then they had down in the ditch to sleep while I slood eartry and "jock-out" for them. It now begins to

"icok-out?" for them. It now begins to rain

The rain has just ceased, but from appearances will soon begin again. We have stood in this ditch all the time and are cold, wet and seary. The rebels move round like wild seem. We can't tell where to look for them. We are now better prepared, having a good dyke and embankment. We also cut down some corn fields, and had to burn down seven dwellings which afforded them shelter and bid them from our view. They have sent in two flags of trace, but all we have sout in two flags of trace, but all we have such that they are not practice very much. One was four the exchange of prisoners. The other for permission to bury their dead, which they are must be the sent of the sent of the remaining to be at the runners in our camp. It would take me a day to write all I hear in an hour. A prominent one this morning was that McCofflicch and Rains are here with Prices and that they are retreating from Rigel, who is now closing in on their rear. I have no faith in it, yet we cannot tell for we have had no news aince we tell deficience.

Sex O'CLOCK.

The rebels used word they are housed to SIX O'CLOCK.

THIRD DAY.
SEPT. 14th-6 O'CLOCK A. M.

We expected to see the sun rise upon a scene of blood, carnage, and the furious din and noise of bettle, but strange, not a rebel is in sight this morning. What does it mean? They probably want to induce us to come outside, which we will not do yet. They are their fifteen thousand voices?

1 9 O'clock, A. H.

They are coming. The drums have sounded the alarm. We are all at our posts. They have fired the challenge. Col. Muligan has just passed along the line, inspiring the men with his calmass and herolam. He taiked to as in this manner:—"Capt. Simison, from all this manner:—"Capt. Simison, from all BIGHTR DAY.

MEGHTR DAY.

SERT. 19—7 'O'LOCK, A. M.

We have met the rebels and the victory is ours. At 9% o'clock yesterday, they fired their first cannon ball into our ranks. They surrounded us completely, and kupt up a vigorous stated until 7 o'clock, p. m., being nine and one half hours constant fighting, but we requised them. They drew off their troops at this hour, and we expect to see them make a grand charge to day with fresh troops, thinging that after our severe test yesterday we will be too tired to resist them long. They left from the fact that it is located in the winds the rebels are concealed from view, only ting a fair sight at them when they attend now, for I am still behind the breastwork overly few minates balls come whisting romy ara. The most prominent instance in mind is this. They have many abarp-about who have placed themselves round in content places, some in trees, others but attungs and logs, and from their security tion keep constantly firing upon us. The these scoundrels are placed on our track have been firing on as since 3 o'clock yes day. ON FURLICUE.—Lieut. I. H. Williams of Company I, Illinois Thirteenth, Col. Wyman commanding, arrived in this city on Saturday from Bella, Mo. Until recently, Lieut. Williams has been a prisoner, having been captured about the first of September by the rebels, while in charge of a train of ambuiances, and taken to Springfield. The rebels at one time had concluded to dispose of their prisoner by hanging, and for that purpose had taken him into the woods and arranged the halter in readiness. The interference of some of the rebel efficers, however, saved him, and subsequently he was released and allowed to return. He reports the "Thirteenth" strongly entrenched at Rolls and in excellent health and spirits. He ramains on furlough in this city for a few days.

Much time and money has been spent by inventors in the vain endeavor to do away with the brush or leather pad in connection with the rotating hook of the Wheeler and Wiscon Sewing Machine. It has at last been the good foctune of a young German mechanic in the employ of the Grover & Baker Sowing Machine Company, to develope an idea which is brought out in the improved Grover & Baker machine, that will probably supercede the rotating hook. It is the substitution of an overflating hook for the rotating, thereby faving a great amount of friction on the thread. In connection with this is a rigid steel pad which from fits very instruct is durable, nover wearing out or requiring re adjustment as a perishable breach or leather pad must.

We commend the attention of railroads in-

This firm have had long experience in their business, and have achieved a reputation second to no other. It is a good proof that they have deserved well of the public, that their business has constantly and largely increased even during the panic times. Among the articles they keep, well deserving of special mention, and which at this season of the year must be deemed almost a necessity, as "Sanrond's $1000 Parmar Challengus Hearran." Theinventor of this Heater was the first person to introduce the plan of causing the first to pass through a number of small tubes to a radiator above, whence the draft finds its way into the chimney. Mr. Sanford adopted the above form in his now delebrated Portable Heaters and so fully has it been found to serve its purpose, the same principle has been adopted by various inventors—and an examination will prove that those furnaces which give the best prove that those furnaces which give the best satisfaction, are such as adopt this plan of in ted more powerfully in advance, the economy of fuel, than the winter we are approaching, when rates must inevitably rule high. The economy of the Sanford Heater is attested by many of our well-known citizens who have is in use, while as to its perfect working ther

Mn. Knrron:-Having published in your paper an attack upon the property owners on Lake circet, between Wabash avenue and Michigan avenue, because of their opposition to paving Lake street between said avenues, with Nicholsan pavement, you will not deny them a word of exparement, you will not dony them a word of ex-planation.

The property owners above mentioned have, with scarce an exception, remonstrated against tearing up the bonder parement to roplace with the Nicholsen parement, for the reason that this fills per let, up to the established grade, and was accepted by the city authorities. Said grade has therefore never since been altered. This block, therefore, unlike my other, on Lake street, is pared up to the established grade.

This parement is now in such a state that a written agreement is in the hands of the Committee of Etreets and Alleys, to repart the entire block for the sum of £55, and an order is also in, the hands of said Committee to repart said block at the ex-pense of the property owners who have signed the same.

THE NEW COLLECTOR.—We ought to have secompanied the announcement of the appointment of Luther Haven, Esq., as Collector of the Port of Chicago, with the remark that it was one eminently it to be made. Mr. Haven is one of our oldest citizens, and no man among us enjoys a higher reputation for probity, honesty, and capacity than he.

Connection.—We were in an error in stating in our last issue, which contains in our last issue that the Chicago Gas Company were in fault, for the series of acid dents mentioned in our last issue, which occurred at the connectifiation of the property of the connection of the connection some twenty inches above grade, which has led many to suppose that the street pavement was below grade, and probably this originated the patition signed by parties who would bear no portion at the suppose that the modern particular, viz: that the rate of assessment on this block where no filling is required is the same as on other blocks where several feet of filling are required. Notwithstanding all this, members of the Court of who oppose this assessment are threatened with their posted and same and the thing bought of the court o

REMARKS.-There was never any improv ment undertaken in the city against which property owners could not make out as clear a case as the writer of the above communica-tion. There are always plenty of excuses why it should be put off, and the richer the property owners are, the more pressing and cogent the reasons become. As to the im-provement in question, the public will be est-isfied if the street is put in good condition. The particular kind of pavement is of no sort of consequence, provided only that the street is kept in good order. But we see no reason to change the outlings expressed a few days case as the writer of the above communica-to change the opinions expressed a few day over, a large part of the advantage to be de-rived from paving Lake street will be lost for another year. Instead, therefore, of allowing a virtual embargo for months of the entire railway lines, it is to be hoped that the Aldermen will unanimously confirm the assessment on Monday evening, and have done with this versatious business. Any further efforts at patchwork are a humbug.
